Unsustainable agricultural practices by expanding the agricultural frontier which represents 70% of deforestation along with the removal of legal and illegal timber. Due to the emergency caused by the COVID-19 and the indebtedness of the country, the Amazon is and will be the key critical point and to revive the economy without consultation procedures and the FPIC of Indigenous Peoples

- Activities and results are well-defined and cohesive but some aspects require clarification;
- The project has clear objectives and a cohesive approach with relevant activities for the context and timeline

Reviewer A: 2/6 Reviewer B: 6/6

Average: 4/6

Evidence A: Results and activities have good logic. I seem to be appropriate but at several points, there is a lack of specificity in the scope and become very general. I think the design should be revised to be more dimensioned to give it a concretion to the scope of the project. Activities in many cases are very relevant but few are hard to understand and which are to be applied (in communities few or all) and in that sense is that the design is or becomes very broad.

Evidence B: The proposed activities are relevant and possible execution. The goal is to empower Indigenous Peoples through training, advocacy at the provincial level model design management and conservation of forests that provide them items, tools and processes to sustain and continue the project once completed financing.

Comprehensive income is seeking the enjoyment of collective rights, protection of the territory by implementing policies.
